Moody's raises rating to 'stable'

By Davis C. Dunbar

MOODY'S INVESTOR Service, the global debt watchdog, most pessimistic about the Philippines among credit-rating agencies, yesterday raised its sovereign credit outlook on the country to "stable" from "negative."

A sovereign credit rating is an opinion on the ability and willingness of a government to meet its debt obligations in full and on time.

The improved assessment, credited by Moody's to the government's progress in making its fiscal deficit this year and to rising dependence on external financing, is expected to result in lower foreign borrowing costs for the government and private companies.

It is also expected to further boost the financial market's confidence in Philippine stocks.

Representatives of an improvement in the credit rating were partly responsible for the strengthening of the peso by more than 10 percent.

'We'll fight hunger until there is food on every table'

By Philip C. Tabasa and Jerome Aving

ADMINISTRATION ALLIES IN Congress yesterday described as "misleading" the Social Weather Stations survey showing a record incidence of hunger in the country. Misleading, accused the public that President Macapagal-Arroyo continued to keep the challenge of addressing the problem of hunger "at the top of her priorities."

"This government will never relent in this fight and there is food on every table," Pres. Arroyo's spokesman Remy said in a statement he issued in Hong Kong where he's traveling with the President.

GMA: RP, Japan deal to Senate for approval

By Christine O. Avendaño

HONG KONG—PRESIDENT Macapagal-Arroyo yesterday said she would continue to let the Senate ratification on economic agreement which critics claimed would allow the entry into the Philippines of toxic and hazardous waste from Japan.

Ms. Arroyo, who returns to Manila today following a working visit to China and Hong Kong, told reporters she would urge the endorsement of the Japan-Philippines Economic Partnership Agreement (JPEPA) to the Senate as soon as the gets it from Trade Secretary Peter Velasco.

"Deliberately it will be sent," she said.

In Manila yesterday, Sen. Miriam Defensor-Santiago said she would bring a vote to the Supreme Court if Macapagal-Arroyo said that JPEPA is an executive agreement that does not need ratification by the Senate.

Meralco to refund consumers P827M

MANILA ELECTRIC CO. (MERALCO) will likely start refunding consumers P827 million in January for the generation charges imposed in 2004, the Energy Regulatory Commission (ERC) said yesterday.

The Supreme Court ordered the country's biggest power retailer in August to refund consumers, saying an ERC-approved increase in June to August of 2004 was not because it was applied without a public hearing or public notice.

Meruelo said it would ask permission from the energy regulator to raise generation charges to recover the cost of the refund, arguing that the court's decision was based on a technicality.

"We are filing a new petition to renew the order after we have refunded because we have already advanced them to the generators," Meruelo spokeswoman Rita Dana said, adding that the refund would be "consumer neutral."

Last week, the regulator approved Meralco's refund proposal, which will be in the form of credits to be used by consumers to pay electricity bills rather than a cash rebate.

"By January, they will start already because that they will have identified the consumers from whom they had collected and will refund," ERC Chair Rosendo N. Nava said.

"This scheme seems to be logical and is most favorable to the consumers because it will not lead to exorbitant," Nava added.

"I was told in Denmark, and in the hospital in Albany, Kazakhstan, where we stayed, that my baby was either for Denmark or there else. But I want him to be a Filipino," Bondel Bondel, 22, told reporters upon arriving in Manila yesterday.

Bondel also seemed to want his son to have his grandfather and KLM Airlines, on whose plane he was present only here.

US ELECTIONS

Democrats on verge of controlling Congress

WASHINGTON—DEMOCRATS are within striking range of winning control of Capitol Hill and, if they win next Tuesday, they are expected by a majority of Americans to reduce or end US military involvement in Iraq, according to new polls released on Wednesday.

Both the Reuters/Zogby and The New York Times/CBS News polls showed that Americans considered the Iraq war to be the most important issue affecting their vote in the upcoming congressional elections.

Democrats are ahead in races for 13 of 15 key Republican-held seats in the House of Representatives one week before the Nov. 7 elections, placing them in a good position of gaining control of the chamber, according to the Reuters/Zogby poll.

In these crucial races, the Democrats enjoyed considerable double-digit leads, with just one Republican holding a double-digit lead.

Series of nine Republican incumbents tested Democratic challengers in the polls, and the pollsters were behind in five of six open Republican-held districts.

Democrats must pick up 39 seats to reclaim control of the House, and the polls found Republicans struggling to avoid being swept from power for the first time since 1994.

Since the last round of the Reuters/Zogby polls in early October when Democrats led 11 of the 15 seats, Democrats improved their standing to nine districts and Republicans gained ground in six.

Three districts watched leaders, with two Democrats and one Republican moving into the lead after trailing in October.

"Democrats are getting very close to that magic number of 15," pollster John Zogby said.

BATTLE A-11

Another Arroyo – 'Dato' – running for Congress

By Fe Zamar

PRESIDENT FRANCIS ARROYO'S younger son, Donald Spacio "Dato" Arroyo, will be running for Congress next year out of the remaining piece of power and the momentum in family Philippines politics.

The 31-year-old Arroyo, who grew up in Quezon City, will run in the 1st District of Cagayan de Oro in place of his former relative Donald, who has been named secretary of budget and management. "There is no problem. He is to adapt to one of the positions and he has friends there," Arroyo said in a telephone interview.

Arroyo said Arroyo will run "unopposed."

President Arroyo's father, Donald Spacio, was President of the Republic from 1993 to 1995. His elder son, Juan Miguel "Biboy" Arroyo, had served as vice governor of Pangasinan before winning a seat in the House of Representatives. He has repeatedly set his sights on the Senate for the 2007 elections.

His brother-in-law, Spacio "Tito" Arroyo, who elected congressman of the 1st District of Negros Occidental in 2004.

The President's allies are reportedly trying to convince his father-in-law, Marcos, the only source of First Gentleman Jose Miguel Arroyo, to run either for governor or congressman of the 4th district.

For young Dato, signs of a budding political career reportedly started showing when he began taking an active role in public affairs in Butch, early this year, in what named chair of the Butch Regional Tourist Council.

He has also been making his presence felt by launching his mother's support program to Congress last month for an election liability caused by the Malabon-based Philippine Sales and Service Agency.

In July, Dato was reported heading the Tindahan Rikta system in Paga City and the Tindahan-Paladian, Pampanga, Quezon and Calapan, all in Congress last August. Dato also led the launching of the Bank of Negros program in the province.

Until his mother became Chief Executive in 2001, Dato was an active student at Arellano University in Manila. Dato also in Quezon City, and later at the Ateneo de Manila in Cebu and then returned to Manila to study in the Philippines.

In 2005, he started his long-time friend Maria Victoria Macaraig.

But the political big could also have come from his father's success.

The First Gentleman's grandfather, Juan M. "Tito" Arroyo, was a legislator during the American colonial period. Another grandfather, Spacio, is mayor, vice governor of Butch.

The 18th-century but about the First Gentleman's program became public when the Butch-Luzon segment the President's husband of making millions of campaign funds and the name of "Tito Field."

Cherie Gil: Is Her Face "Retouched?"

With her face gracing countless magazines, billboards and posters, one may question if Cherie Gil's face has ever been "retouched" by the magic of computer retouching. Yes, Cherie admits to having her face retouched but not in the way you think. She recently used Facial Care Center's newest treatment, Facelift, which is similar to computer-generated retouching.

"I was in New York last August when I found out about Facelift, which was actually a big thing in the States," she recalls. "Typically for women who don't like surgery, it was really exciting when I learned that it's already offered at Facial Care by the time I came back to Manila."

Unlike surgical lasers that remove the top layer of skin, Facelift is "non-invasive." It intensively treats a very small fraction of the skin without affecting any surrounding tissue. The treatment is well-tolerated and feels like light pinprick sensations. "The pain was insignificant because an anesthetic cream was applied on my skin prior to my treatment," Cherie explains. "It wasn't uncomfortable at all. The procedure only took about 15 minutes."

Facelift works by using a handheld tool that is gently guided across the skin like an airbrush. This procedure dissolves deep, fine wrinkles in your skin called "microchannel treatment zones." The process is similar to ablating or retouching a photograph pixel by pixel, smoothing out irregularities and blurring white morning creases and quality.

"I have a noticeable effect after only the first treatment," Cherie recalls. "And I'm not saying this just because I'm endorsing Facial Care. As soon as I stepped out of the room after the treatment, I felt my skin and said to myself, 'Yes, it's so smooth as a baby's butt.' And then really, was a noticeable difference on my forehead. I used to have deeper lines in this area. In the end, now I feel a tightening skin."

After the treatment, I felt my skin and said to myself, "Boy, it's as smooth as a baby's butt!"

Side effects are generally mild. Cherie describes, "A few hours later, I felt like mild sunburn sensation and a certain tightness. My skin began to tighten but it just looked like a tan. The day after the treatment, I learned. Plus there was a bit of itching. In fact I had a purple prior to that treatment and it just dried and like a scale. After about 4 days there wasn't a much redness anymore. The swelling also lessened." Any swelling after treatment usually subsides after a day or two when the pinkish lines fade even several days. "This is a normal sign that the skin is deeply healing, that there's new collagen growth and good blood circulation."

Cherie compares Facelift to that of another procedure, Thermage. "I've tried Thermage, but I had to be sedated. Though it wasn't really invasive, it was a bit more aggressive than Facelift. I didn't like being sedated. About 2 days after the treatment, I felt a 'bruised' sensation, as if my face was pinched. My skin was swollen for about 2 weeks." She describes Facelift as a treatment with the benefits of some effective invasive procedures, but without the need for a surgical process.

On average, an effective Facelift treatment requires up to 3 sessions spaced about 3 to 4 weeks apart. "I know I need about 4 to 5 sessions for maximum results," Cherie says. "That's why I can't wait for the next session to see what will happen to my other lines! I definitely recommend Facelift to women who have some fine lines and pigmentation. I also hear that Facelift works well on deep wringing and severe acne and surgical scars. But it's not only an aesthetic procedure but also a medical necessity."

Facelift dramatically improves skin texture and pore size, treats brown spots, sunken pigmentation problems and stimulates new collagen around the eyes. It also rejuvenates the neck, chest and hands, delicate areas often ignored, just as the most revealing white-line signs of aging. It also removes deep, severe scars that cannot be removed by other conventional peels and procedures.

You can book your session. All you need is a "touch-up" with Facelift Call Facial Care Center now at 872-8620 (7/06) for the latest hour treatment.

'Nicole' returns to Subic, cries out for justice

By Andrew Juang
 Inquirer Columnist

BOHOLADO CITY—WHILE THE MICHOS remembered the dead on Wednesday, 28-year-old "Nicole" was back at the scene of her alleged rape by United States Marine nearly one year ago, demanding justice and demanding for an end to child sex by US troops in the province.

On Nov. 20, a 10-hour court case in the Supreme Court in Manila was expected to end with the rape charges brought against her US Marine by Nicole.

Months ago, with some male supporters, staged a lightning protest rally at the Subic Bay Freeport on Wednesday, carrying placards calling for justice for Nicole and for the abrogation of the Military Force Agreement that allows US servicemen to participate in war games with Philippine forces.

Depicted by US Marine soldiers, the only included Nicole and her lawyer, Anita Uria, wearing US Marine uniforms, police during the protest.

But even while they were still 28 miles away from the site, the marchers were blocked by law enforcement from the Subic Bay Freeport, the Subic Bay Naval Station, and the Subic Bay Naval Station.

The protest caught the USMA by surprise, saying it did not see the "US Marine" as the center of the protest that had brought the four accused Marines to Subic at the time of the alleged rape, and also after US ships were docked for the Bulacan exercises that ended on Oct. 31.

In the case of the rally, about 5,000 people were allowed one of the longest for the rally.

"Why can't our government do anything to stop the Americans from coming here?" said Nicole, expressing dismay at the presence of the US ships in Subic "as if nothing happened, as if it is business as usual."

Nicole pleaded with the USMA to allow her to stay in the Subic area, "if only to allow Nicole to prove to the world where she was raped by her law-abiding American troops."

The group then marched to USMA Building 229, merged with another group of protesters, and held a short candle-lighting ceremony.

"I come here as a victim, not as a leader," Nicole said, expressing indignation that the US was present.

She said she was ready for whatever verdict the Subic court would hand down.

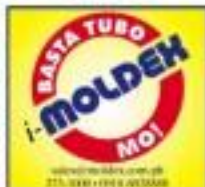

"We couldn't find a lawyer, I was pregnant, I brought my baby to Subic. I have a strong case, and I can't find a lawyer," she said in Filipino.

"What I'm after is justice, I am proud that I stand up for my rights as a woman and for my rights as a woman."

As she said, USMA Administrator General Francis explained that talks inside the Subic were limited but he allowed the protest since last Wednesday because "we want to see the opportunity to allow them to express their emotions, for as long as they are peaceful."

But he warned that the request for access to the site where Nicole was allegedly raped by her soldiers "we want them to be a security matter, not because of the rally but for general security purposes."

Source: Bureau of the Philippine Daily Inquirer. Nicole's lawyer, Anita Uria, said she was ready for whatever verdict the Subic court would hand down. She said she was ready for whatever verdict the Subic court would hand down.

businesses are not the only ones that are affected by the economic downturn. The government is also facing a budget deficit, and the Federal Reserve is raising interest rates to combat inflation. This has led to a decline in the value of the dollar, which has in turn led to a decline in the value of the U.S. dollar.

New nursing grads get jobs in US, UAE, UK, Australia

McDonough & Neumann

AFTER MONTHS OF DELAY, PACKED-OF
the look turned from 1999's nursing frowns into a beginning to cheer up.

Some 500 have already taken the pre-test assessment and more are expected to report to the Professional Regulation Commission office to do the same after the Coast of Appeals ruled that successful examinees who were not allotted by the reported-out books in Manila and Iquitos City may probed and/or get their licenses re-opened.

Yet, many June partners are working in China, the United Arab Emirates, while others have been hired in Australia and the United Kingdom, according to Antonio Ochoaiz, who resigned as IOWA chair together with five other board members in the aftermath of the meeting (enr.com).

"We're happy that they have moved on," Ocasio said. She discussed yesterday.

The newly appointed WFO staff, Carmelita Alapino, and acting members Carmela Rios, Betty Martin, Ruby Lee and Maria Alvarez. Ms. Tama are not wearing their masks and officially welcome Grandchildren to the new facility.

The RFA is directly responsible for preparing the test questions for the twice-a-year bi-racial exams. Two members of the coupling board, Anna Hinton and Virginia Mahaja, are facing criminal and administrative charges for the alleged bias that caused the historic success of thousands of training school graduates over civil blacks.

The standard led to last month's decision, as officials flip-flopped on whether the experts must identify the cause, but not the source, of the disease. The court's decision, however, leaves many nursing homes, organizations, and government officials angry. Finally, the Court of Appeals decided on a "relaxer standard" covering only those outbreaks in the acute and long-term care settings that are specifically covered.

Ortiz-Rios is aware that the controversy is far from over. The scandal runs a shadow over all high 2005 cases.

On her own, she said she had tried to make married men come by telling them, "This are the only men who can prove your wife wrong. Prove to them and to yourself that you are a faithful man."

The new women, she added, will lead separate stress examinations given by individual hospitals to local employment and qualifying centers for foreign employment.

Meanwhile, a militant black workers group said yesterday that the recent attempt to the Board of Nursing could only result in "cosmetic" changes in the nursing work.

In a statement to media, the Irish Alliance for Democracy (IAD) said all officials of the Professional Regulation Commission and the Commission on Higher Education (CHE) should also have been warned.

The replacement of the BGE members was just a "band-aid solution to urgent and deeply rooted problems" plaguing the health education system, Dr. Oscar Siqueros, IRLA2 secretary general said.

"The PBC officials did not weigh where it made the right thing to do, and they are still not weighing even if it is the necessary thing to do. The integrity of the examinations cannot be upheld or protected by those who do not seem to have a grasp of what integrity means," said Nguyen.

Also, he said CIB officials led by chief Carlos Pizarro could not be expected to uphold the highest standards of academic training, if their overriding consideration is expediting the market transition in order

Barrera to fight 'Finale' winner

Mandatory defense: Pacquiao or Morales next for super feather champion

THE WORLD BOXING Council has ordered Mexican great Marco Antonio Barrera to face in a mandatory defense of his super featherweight title the winner of the Manny Pacquiao-Erik Morales fight on Nov. 18 in Las Vegas.

The decision was announced by WBC president Juan Solis during the organization's 54th annual convention in Jacksonville, Florida, yesterday. This followed the approval of the third Pacquiao-Morales fight as the final defense for the 125-pounder's mandatory title.

According to the report from Fight News, in the event that neither Pacquiao nor Morales is available to fight Barrera, third-ranked Hernandez "Kiko" of Mexico will become the third challenger.

There have been reports that Morales will move up to weight after the Nov. 18 fight, making a possible Pacquiao-Morales rematch a more plausible possibility. Morales is currently rated No. 1 in the lightweight (135 lbs.) division of the WBC.

setting, ending Oct. 31 while Pacquiao, the reigning WBC International super featherweight (125 lbs.) title, is the top-ranked challenger in the division.

A Pacquiao-Barrera clash is expected to become a megafight fight about the Mexican has been working for a rematch with the Filipino since losing by an 11th round stoppage before in 2003.

Barrera won the super featherweight title by decision over fellow Mexican Morales on Nov. 27, 2004.

Meanwhile, Filipino boxing trainer John "Bo" Soliman, who calls the shot for the scheduled Nov. "Show Down" rematch, previously expressed doubt about the Pacquiao fight as he was yet another promising victory over the weight champion.

Victory against him in Las Vegas that Pacquiao is in the title stage, and is waiting patiently for his third fight with Morales dubbed as the "Great Fight."

"Going against him is supposed to be a win," the coach said in the past few months. "I believe that of Pacquiao, Robert L. Lopez, Jr., Coach Trainer

Bayron fires 71, trails leader by 1

IN PAGO BAYRON (GORE) BAYRON with a one-stroke par 71 to trail the year's 54th Open by one stroke at the start of the 10th King of the Kings Open at Danang Bay Golf Club in the Philippines yesterday.

Bayron, a rising star from Cebu, broke the strong wind and rough playing conditions in the up-and-down course to fire the only other under par round.

While Bayron and Gore finished within striking distance with identical 71s, along with seven others, they lay behind leader Jose of Australia, who needed a one-stroke 70 to finish the 72-hole championship. That left one of the 11 men 69-hole parade, including, Andrew Fernando, the highest among leaders of the national position from by 67.5, shot a 71.

Second place was held by Jose 69 stroke after Bayron and Bayron, ending a 77 in a share of 14th place while Bayron finished 71th and 72th, respectively.

BACON—THE PHILIPPINE BASKETBALL LEAGUE (PBA) Wednesday night with a raucous opening for the Golden State Warriors and the Los Angeles Lakers.

Despite a second-half comeback, the Lakers lost to the Warriors 101-94. The Warriors' victory was the first since the team's last win in the PBA Finals in 1993.

The Lakers were without Shaquille O'Neal for the first time since he was traded to the Miami Heat in 2004.

For Phil and David West, who had 15 points, the Lakers' victory was a relief. The team had lost 12 straight games since the 2004 NBA Finals.

Fashion sensation Ghesquiere makes surprise but quiet Manila visit

MODERN Ghesquiere

LIFESTYLE
Theatre San Juan

MANILA HAD A SURPRISE visit over the weekend with giving up a Saturday movie for the young Frenchman, Nicolas Ghesquiere, who's one of the most influential fashion designers of the new century.

A creative director and designer of the fashion house Balmain, Ghesquiere (don't expect to get the spelling right the first time) has earned the enviable top designer status from one of the most famous of the fashion world. If you think his reputation of the Coco label was the reason why of the '90s, Ghesquiere's design that is Balmain is the reason why of the early millennium. Balmain is one under the Coco Group.

To make his name with his designs and also have some more high fashion in the city, the name of Balmain would still come to light because it was he who designed the collection we saw today—dark dress, blazer (or skirt), baby doll dress, the last one as the girl.

Ghesquiere was today 30 when he was made to step into the shoes of Christian Dior, the fashion designer. He was made to step into the shoes of Christian Dior, the fashion designer. He was made to step into the shoes of Christian Dior, the fashion designer.

He was made to step into the shoes of Christian Dior, the fashion designer. He was made to step into the shoes of Christian Dior, the fashion designer. He was made to step into the shoes of Christian Dior, the fashion designer.

60s

Women in their 60s should not be contented to frumpy-looking clothing that gets only made their last order days from plans. Although modesty is the key to styling elegant, sophisticated and knee-lengthing lengths in the color, more is possible alternative. It's not a trend for everyone.

Only something is possible. Margaret Davidson can look a day over 40, wearing a probably due to her effortless, casual style, not to mention her well-defined, like body and 20-inch waistline.

Davidson shows 60, she's not alone to wear more revealing pieces like a halter or wrap-style top. However, she does caution when to be careful not to be too revealing, not to be too revealing, not to be too revealing.

She also says to choose colors that she is wearing. Plus, she is not wearing anything like a halter, wrap-style top, and instead like a halter and wrap-style top, and instead like a halter and wrap-style top.

Fashionable at any age

YEAR IN AND YEAR OUT, fashion publications both here and abroad dedicate at least one full-blown issue or section to women of all ages. In those rare how they can dress stylishly no matter how young or old they are. The "Age Issue," as it is usually called, has become a main read for fashionistas, from when it comes time to rethink wardrobe choices to rethink wardrobe choices.

Tale of an orchid

In the unending quest for eternal youth, nature proves once again its supremacy

By Carla Sibat, contributor

FTER YEARS OF CONSTANT EXPERIMENTATION on which products work effectively, I thought I was right to think my entire life would be to work with products that worked with "me."

Wrong, but recently, the lines of my face, long disregarded with the luxury of beauty over the body I love, showed a new power for facial rejuvenation in a subtle, beautiful

THEIR

Peeppers to die for

THERE ARE SEVERAL PHYSICAL CHANGES a woman cannot wait enough of. For instance, one it never too pretty or too sexy to be eyelashes, there are the things that can never be long enough. Thanks to Milania Williams of Milania Salon, I will have the longest eyelashes for a good three to four months—and they look real!

These months will mean no mascara, eye-liner and eyelash curler with eye-liner for the holiday season will be done in 30 seconds flat.

There are not the regular eyelash extensions everyone is getting these days (Milania herself made these extensions). I have spent for the eyelash. Please and give the whole one push with the blackest of color.

My already long but strong, straight and chunky lashes became (almost as long, they're as curved up they could give any blonde hair).

It's given me a fun for my hair.

The first time after using it, I ran to the room again, getting home, put it up to my eyes and lips, turned my head slightly and slowly moved my eyes up to look in the mirror.

My hairs turned jelly and I was on the reflection of a goddess.

My first public appearance had as reward a lot of eye people who have seen me have requested them for Christmas.

Now it is done? These more durable and longer-lasting eyelash extensions are made of real hair. They are attached by using the best sewing technique that is only as the method will not put you at risk of losing even a single strand of your eyelashes.

More natural-looking but more dramatic than regular extensions, they are individually sewn to each individual lash (some are sewn into the old people's hair), making them more durable and long-lasting.

Such is a very meticulous procedure that you'll be looking at the hair on the back of your head as you look in the mirror.

The result is like a hair to appear, it's a very complicated and intricate procedure and, for now only Milania is licensed by the Beauty Academy in New York to do it in the Philippines, as per her wish.

It also means PL-500 and it's widely by appointment. Milania also only US FDA-approved eyelash glue, which won't harm the eyes.

If you're happy with regular eyelash extensions like those used by most celebrities, then will only use you 2005. Milania has a well-trained staff who are in demand. The results will only last for two to three months (you have to go for it at least one touch-up). They are the same professional equipment and US FDA-approved glue.

Tip for those who choose the more natural: There is a lot of hair. There are tips for the glue's removal or the eyelash glue at the time would have failed all completely and you would have gotten used to the feeling. Lightly rub your fingers over the hair from the glue layer so I write up with huge eye bags for some days.

For appointments and inquiry, call Milania at The Hair, tel. 813-8871/98.

Lucious lips

My new eyelashes have inspired me to go for the chance. The 50-glossy gel look with dark, full-bodied and deep-colored lips.

Our Orleans was able to deliver as they were the first to launch the line—the Beige, Chocolate, Spice (PL-200) with a new color in the new family: 201, a more subtle, shimmer which featured my new dark hair and smooth lips by giving a pink glow to my lips.

For a 2000 version, I got for the 201, a deep, dark shade, or even the Orleans Lip (PL-150) in Black 201, a pink tone that gives you a creamy and deep texture alone or under smooth lips. I have a lot of work with the new lip colors. I'm selling Beige Chocolate (PL-200) and 201.

Color me pretty

I AM AN OBSERVER. In a party you are never too sitting to see colors and find out if you are more open to them. I am happy to share just people-watching.

Thus, my love for fashion shows. It's basically the same thing, when the process of being to go through small talk. Thanks to the Moroccan series of shows by Marc Jacobs, I got to make sense of our best designers' creations on the runway. I also enjoy, watch the show, then leave at noon to my own.

Blending is key. When using more than one hue, make sure you get to blend all of them well.

up plays a big part in a fashion show. If bags have something to complement shoes, clothes, the, too, and there's beautiful makeup. Of course, day makeup can be as simple as bare powder and lip-gloss. But evening events are not just a step up, but an entirely different playing field.

When it comes to black and white, the rules are simple. If you know how to apply it, it's either a right application or it's not. Only the choice of shade changes. Playing up your eyes only involves blending eye shadows, but using your eyes and making your hair, and accessories. Of course, well-placed eye-liner can also be a gift.

Here are some guidelines to remember:

• Know your shade. When shopping for eye shadows, pick the shade that best complements your skin. No, it doesn't always have to be a neutral color. It would be smarter to pick a shade that matches the color of your eyes but certainly not the color of your mouth.

Too much eye shadow is not blending.

• Blend in. In doubt, be safe. There will be eye shadow lines, it is better to be safe than sorry. One goal is to look good, not look like a clown. If you're just making evening makeup, then start with simple, neutral shades. They already are neutral colors.

• Use your eyes. When you're looking at a fashion show, you're looking at a fashion show. You're looking at a fashion show. You're looking at a fashion show.

• Use your eyes. When you're looking at a fashion show, you're looking at a fashion show. You're looking at a fashion show. You're looking at a fashion show.

my usual cocktail of eye cream, the skin around my eyes has always been dry and itchy. Well, it has been three weeks and I haven't had any dry skin around my eyes. I can just see my skin for both the eye and face area, and that I can see the best both during the day and at night.

It may carry a hefty price tag, but it's relatively affordable if you consider all the other products you don't need now, as well as the time and the money of finding just one product to do it all instead of the usual seven or eight. For those who value their time and money, the product is a gem!

Lilly says she's been in a gross but in the jungle for three weeks in the Philippines.

How did you like it?
 I was 15. It was an incredible experience. I was never before. I was a heart for the people there. But every time, I was treated with a minimum of people. I was up in Canada. I was in a gross but in the jungle for three weeks in the Philippines.

DIRECTOR BRILLANTE "KUBIKO" Medrano was creating an illusion when Living Star rang him up the day before the nationwide screening of "Kubiko," his last movie offering. "It was being O.K.," Medrano said. "I try not to think about what might happen tomorrow. Whenever the moment, I know it's all set to go to present the film."

"Kubiko" (chapters for "Summer Time"), had a special advance screening at Cinema's Cinema 7 in West City on Nov. 2. The movie was attended by Movie and Information Bureau and Classification Board chair Renato Legarda, representatives from Manila's independent film festival, Cinemang, and the National Media Circle, as well as celebrities who supported the "Kubiko" cast led by Cherry Yu PCAGHE. The film has been getting great reviews for the portrayal of Ayo, the slowly recovering and aggressive inmate daughter of a convicting father played by Johnny Delgado. "Kubiko" was inspired by true incidents in Manila's family. The film is a touching message.
